‘THE LANDING AT GOSFORD’ MASTERPLAN UNVEILED

Minister for the Central Coast, Chris Hartcher today unveiled the masterplan for ‘The Landing at Gosford’ waterfront site to a group of over 120 people.

“The Landing at Gosford Masterplan creates a vibrant and achievable development for this iconic regional city,” Mr Hartcher said.

“It is a plan which focuses on delivering the community’s targets for the new look Gosford city.

“It is a plan to bring about regional change with flow on effects to benefit the entire Central Coast region.

“Targets including job creation, business and economic growth, as well as public access with improved amenity are all elements of the plan to support the development of a dynamic waterfront.”

Gosford City Council and the Central Coast Regional Development Corporation have been working steadily to deliver the Masterplan since the announcement of Lend Lease as the preferred proponent for the waterfront in December 2010.

A project control group consisting of members of the Corporation, Council, Lend Lease and Crown Lands have revised the plan several times before bringing the Masterplan to the community.

“This project is about delivering an outcome which is realistic, achievable and supports the primary objectives as established by the ‘Our City, Our Destiny’ Masterplan for the Gosford CBD,” said Stephen Brahams, Chairman of the Project Control Group.

Elements of the plan include:

- Performing Arts and Conference Centre;
- Commercial office buildings;
- Hotel to support the Conference Centre;

- Improved pedestrian access;
- Enhanced community spaces and play areas; and
- Retail and residential opportunities.

The Masterplan will be on public display for a period of three weeks, commencing 5 October 2011.
